DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species of tissue section preparation

- A) sections are prepared when the tissue sample is fresh (claims 29, 30),
- B) tissue sample is frozen (claims 31, 32),
- C) the tissue sample is mounted on a slide and frozen immediately after the tissue sample is removed from a patient, and the sections are prepared from the frozen tissue sample with a microtome (claims 33-35).

Species of non-morphological analytical testing

D) non-morphological analytical testing comprises detecting bio-molecules or determining a biophysical characteristic of the at least another one of the prepared sections, the bio-molecules including genomic DNA, cDNA, mRNA, epigenomic methylation pattern, proteins, viral or bacterial nucleic acids, infectious prions, nucleic acids or proteins of pathogenic parasites (claims 40, 41),

E) non-morphological analytical testing comprises determination of a quantity which makes it possible to determine at least one of a fraction of diseased tissue and a fraction of another tissue component in the tissue sample, and the at least one of a fraction of diseased tissue and a fraction of another tissue component so determined is used quantitatively as a basis of evaluation of the result of the non-morphological analytical testing (claims 42, 43).

Species of treatment of biological molecules

F) the bio-molecules to be detected by the non-morphological analytical testing are subjected to a labeling step (claims 46, 48),

G) the nucleic acids to be detected by the non-morphological analytical testing are subjected to an amplification step (claims 47, 49).

Species of histological/cytological examination

H) comprises at least one staining step (claims 50, 51),

I) comprises at least one of an immunohistochemical step and an in situ hybridization step (claims 52, 53).

Species of using the method

J) to develop a tumor data bank (claims 55, 56),

K) to develop an individualized cancer therapy (claims 57, 58),

L) to adjust patient's individualized cancer therapy (claims 59, 60).

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species from each of the sets of species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 24.

2. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Erlander et al. (US 2003/0186248; cited in the IDS) teach the methods of claims 24 and 25 including some of the species (page 2, [0015]-[0017]; page 3, [0019]-[0024]; page 4, [0025]-[0028]; page 6, [0043]; page 7, [0064]-[0065]; page 10, [0099]-[0100]; page 11, [0101]; page 12, [0120]; page 13; page 14, [0133]-[0134]). Therefore the species lack a unifying special technical feature.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
